Academic Conference

Dubrovnik • 5-6 October 2022

Dear Colleagues and Friends

I am delighted to present to you, on behalf of the entire Board of INSOL Europe's Academic Forum and all the speakers, the programme of our Dubrovnik academic conference:

> Download the technical programme: at www.insol-europe.org/academic-forum-events

As you will see in the link above, we once again have a broad selection of papers on cutting-edge topics in the fields of insolvency and restructuring, all this only half-year after our extremely well attended and received conference in Dublin. In Dublin, we could have attributed the number and the quality of papers submitted to us to the Covid-induced break in conference activities. However, the equally impressive number and quality of submissions attracted by our call for papers for Dubrovnik must really be taken as a sign of the impressive depth and breadth of academic research conducted in our field in Europe, and beyond.

We are excited and proud that INSOL Europe's Academic Forum has become the prime platform in which this research is presented, shared and debated in Europe.

The one innovation that Dubrovnik will bring about is the new "Open Forum: The Implementation Agora" – the last session of the academic conference which, after an impromptu experiment in Dublin, will be open to the delegates of the main Congress as well. The open forum is intended to give academics and practitioners an opportunity to share and discuss their experiences with the implementation of the preventive restructuring directive across the EU in an informal setting, and we would very much like to invite delegates registered for the main conference to pop in to this last session on Thursday afternoon and participate in what we hope will be an event that will be entertaining as well as informative.

I look forward to meeting you all in Dubrovnik in October.
